The deadlock in the senate, and in republican politics generally, is about to be broken by the doption of a new programme by the president, under the divertion of Secretary Blaine. The Star, being democratic, does not affect to be the official secretary blaine. The Star, being democratic, does not affect to be the official secretary blaine. The Star, being democratic, does not affect to be the official secretary blaine. The Star, being democratic, does not affect to be the official secretary blaine. The Star secretary blaine of the secretary blaine of the secretary blaine of the secretary blaine of the control of the president have provene oncurate, that we may claim the implicit credesce of the country for this revelation of his present intentions.

We are given to understand, from authentic, sources, that, within a fortuight at most, if the deadlock be continued, Garfield will withdraw all the nominations now before the senate, thus leaving the senators with nothing to do and no excuse for prolonging their session. As soon as, the senate adjourns, the president will make the appointments, and throw the onus of the situation upon Conkling and the stalwars, relying upon the lutrin-sic merit of his appointments and the explanations of his friends to set him right with his party and the country. The advice and consent of the senate having been withheld from the president by the stalwart trick of gain-aid, Garfield feels justified to taking this bold stand and acting for himself.

In order to carry out this programme, the president will prompily cease to send any more nominations to the senate, and the country will understand from this cossation that unless the deadlock be immediately broken by the republican senators them-selves, the remaining portion of the new policy will be enforced. We should not be surprised to see the president's message withdrawing the nominations soon panied by a plain statement that he has no further business to submit to the senate

The beautiful and talented actress, Agnes Herndon, supported by her excellent company, graced the stage of our theater last night. The play presented was the great New York success, "Led Astray." The leading role. the Countess Armande, portrayed by Miss Herndon, is a very trying one and its portrayal demands the highest emotional acting, but the grand woman handled it with that easy grace and naturalness which comes only with such gening as handled it with that easy grace and naturalness which comes only with such genius as hers. Her pronunciation is purely southern, which invests her with a new charm for southern people. Her voice is music, her face is beauty, and her movements the very poetry of motion. The coastumes worn by the lad as were the finest ever seen on our sage. They were made expressly for the play and are the handiwork of Worth, the famous man-milliner of Paris. The company is a remarkably strong one and is composed of ladies and gentlemen of acknowledged reputation and ability. Let all who appreciate fine acting fail not to see this beautiful southerner and her superb company.—Richmond State.

etc., entrused to dots mith called the attention of the board five.

Commissioner Fox stated that the new uniforms would be ready by the 21st of the present mouth, and suggested Monday, May 2, at 12:30 c'clock as the day for a general inspection of the entire force

Upon metion the board adjourned.

Very Encouraging.

We are authorized to state that the Ladies' Hospital Fair will open on the last hinstant at the large and cernfortable halls under the Young Men's Library, on Decautr street. The committee of arrangements will meet at these halls on Tuesday the 12th, at 3p m., to commence preparations for arrangement and display of the articles that have been received and are coming in from every section of the country. Many merchants and others from various points, north and west, have contributed to the lair, and it is hoped that hundreds of others will do likewite. Though called a fair, it would seem to be similar to a brokens' or merchants' exchange, where the ladies, aided by the business men of the city, will exhibit and sell all articles donated, and will endeavor to make it advance the interest of the donor as well as the hope man of enlarged views to be a supported by the samples of their goods and wares with which they are perhaps unacquainted, and of introducing themselves to the knowledge of our people which would doubtiess result in the promation of their mutual interess.

Pitteen and Cost.

Fifteen and Cost. Sunday evening John Thompson went to Woll's beer garden, and after spending the afternoon in battling with Woll's beer, left for town. His' transit was a tame one until he reached Mrs Gunby's store, on Decatur street. Here he attempted to enter the house, and being refused began abusing all who came within sound of his volce. Frightened at Thompson's conduct Mrs. Gunby sent a colored man for aid, who, meeting Mr. William Ellis, induced him to go to the lady's rescue, but 20 sooner had Ellis reached the house than Thompson's picking up an axe made an assault upon him. Ellis tiled to frighten his assainnt off by threatening to throw a stone at house than Thompsin, picking wp an axe made as assautupon him. Ellis tied to frighten his assainant off by threatening to throw a stone at him but without success, and in the tussel which ensued, Ellis received an ugly wound above the right eye, made with the axe in Thompson's hand. The difficulty drew a crowd, which at tracted officer Weaver's attention, and Thompson s arrest was the result The charge preferred against him was "drunk and disderly conduct," and for this Recorder Milledge vesterday imposed a fine of filteen dollars and cost, which was cheerfully paid.

The above named organization will hold its sixth meeting in the city of Columbus on the 12th instant. The objects of the Georgia Pharmaceutical association are: First-The securing of wholesome and wise laws regulating the manufacture and sale of medicine in the state, protecting all who may be in the business at the time, and preventing its being further browded with inefficient and irregular persons—to secure the control of such matters to druggists, instead of to physicians. The association has been in existence for six or cight years, and has made but little progress toward the accomplishment of these results. The attendance will probably be tence for six of vigus years, and ittle progress toward the accomplishment of e results. The attendance will probably be tell large, as the president and etary have been quite energetic in getting the meeting. It is expected that at the next iting of the general assembly legislation beneal to the druggists will be asked for.

"The Cash Scoops Them in Again"
On last week Mr. John Ryan received a telegram that there was going to be a big forced sale of a celebrated Pennsylvania shoe manufacturer that was slightly under the weather financially. He at once sent his buyer, and from the amount of cases we saw piled up before his door, we should judge that it must have taken an entire train to convey this lot of goods. Never before have we seen such a quantity of shoes in any one house in Georgia. We were informed that cash was paid for the entire lot and bought remarkably cheap. We predict that these goods will have an immense run. They are all nice, new, fresh goods, and if put at the prices we were told they would be marked, and no doubt that they will be, Mr. Ryan will have to double his shoe force.

"The Place to Visit."

Very often our minds are taxed, when we have a friend visiting Atlanta, to be able to entertain and show him around Now there is no place that will show to better advantage the rapid growth, enterprise and vim of Atlanta than by taking your friend through the immense dry goods, carpet and shoe establishment of the merchant prince, Mr. John Ryan. It is sight well worth seeing, with nearly hundred clerks employed, dashing around waiting upon the myriada of customers the daily throng this hoose. Look here anothere, you see immense piles of splendid allinen towels marked 10 cents each, and in another place a huge stack of rosiery, you choice for 5 cen's per pair, and now at the silk department you see beautiful checked silks at 35c yard, black silks at 40 cents, and every second you hear the cry of "cash here" Why, this yery sight is enough to start out anyone with new vigor and push; it reminds one of the old palmy days of the great New York stores.

Now here is a gentleman that has pushed up a business second to none in the southern states, and the great secret was his untiring energy and his continued offering of bargains.
